Give the Gift of Camping

Research published by UCLA in 2015 found kids who were away from screens (TV, tablets, smart phones) for 5 days with many opportunities for in-person interaction improved the camper's empathy. The time spent engaged with kids & adults significantly enhanced their ability to read facial emotions. Camp increases face-to-face communications and provides important peer interactions.

Sequanota has been nurturing faith and providing camping experiences for 70 years! At Sequanota, individuals learn and play in a nurturing environment, which is experiential, safe, and age appropriate. All participants have the opportunity to be creative and to challenge themselves as they develop in this Christian community.

Sequanota is accredited by the American Camp Association (ACA), which sets the highest safety standards for camping organizations across the country. Our staff is selected for their faith in God, sensitive leadership, and ability to develop caring relationships. All summer camp staff are trained in faith practices, child development, group building, first aid and CPR, and have undergone a thorough background check. The staff is trained and led by our executive director, Rev. Nathan Pile.
